Dems Accused Of Preparing Spending Spree

GOP Chieftain Raps Opponents, Gives His Party's Objectives

DELAWARE (AP)—Meade Alcorn, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said today that the Democrats would spend federal funds "at random" to halt the business downturn.

Republicans, he added, are not willing to "hand our grandchildren a billion dollar bill for 1958 leaf-raking."

The GOP chairman, in an address prepared for Ohio Wesleyan University's student assembly, said the difference between the two parties on the current recession is this:

"The Democrats see in this a negative, hard-times issue on which their various splinter groups can unite. Their answer is two-fold: (1) Mount a massive publicity barrage of professional pessimism to shake confidence in the future and (2) wheel out their traditional and only economic weapon, the federal treasury, and fire it off pretty much at random in all directions."

"REPUBLICANS see in the downturn a temporary challenge to the working partnership of government and private initiative. We refuse to spread fear and panic among the people."

"We refuse to believe that the bright future of America has suddenly dimmed. We quietly loosen credit, encourage enterprise and carry out a solid economic program to stimulate and accelerate spending only for things the country needs."

Alcorn said the theory that the political independent represents the acme of good citizenship is a mistaken idea that has flourished far too long on too many college campuses. He argued that political independence carried to its logical conclusion "would destroy the two-party system."

The self-styled "lawyer on leave" chairman advised against anti-labor legislation in an address Thursday to about 200 GOP county chairmen and state committee members in Columbus.

Newsmen asked later if he was referring to:

A proposed amendment to the Ohio Constitution outlawing union shops, or the state administration's planned appeal from court approval of simultaneous supplemental unemployment benefits and state unemployment compensation.

"Those are matters of state determination," Alcorn replied. "The national committee has not and will not take a position on either question."

BUT HE SAID labor's rank-and-file is "disenchanted" with union leadership, but said he is "unusually opposed to utilizing the present labor sentiment to enact anti-labor or labor-baiting legislation."

Turning to the November election, Alcorn said the GOP will have a hard time winning control of Congress, but may improve its 17-7 House majority of Ohioans. He did not say which seats the Republicans hope to take from the Democrats, but the state Republican chairman, Ray C. Bliss, has mentioned hopes of capturing the 18th District seat held by Rep. Wayne L. Hays.

Police Check Clues in Hunt For Boy, 5

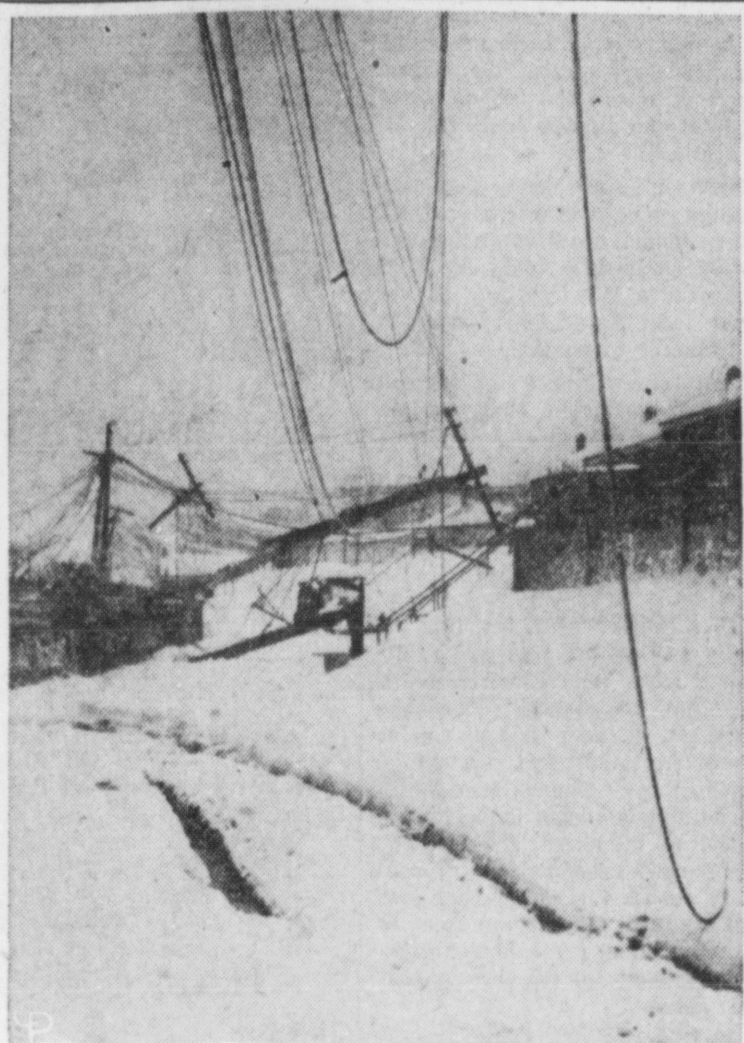

GALLIPOLIS FERRY, W. Va. (AP)—Police concentrated today on checking out meager clues in the disappearance of John Wayne McKinney, 5-year-old son of a tenant farmer.

The boy has been missing since about 3 p. m. Monday. His mother, Mrs. Paul McKinney, 27, said she last saw him playing with two dogs in the yard at the home on the 1,200-acre Rolf Lee dairy farm near here. Both dogs, missing when she said she called her son, later returned.

A search, involving more than 1,000 persons at one time, was called off late Thursday by Chief Sheriff's Deputy D. M. Harshbarger of Mason County.

He said search parties would not be sent out again unless police "get additional clues of some sort."

"Everything we have found makes us believe that the child was disposed of and the body hidden," Harshbarger said, "but we don't know who did it or might have done it."

Spring Drifts to Baltimore

POWER LINES and poles were snapped as spring arrived in Baltimore on the heavy wings of a 14-inch snowfall.

Snowstorm Whips Eastern Seaboard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A brutal end-of-winter snowstorm, unleashed along the northeastern seaboard Thursday, raged on with mounting fury today, the first full day of spring. It delivered a smashing blow at life, property and vital services.

The vast stretch of seaboard from Maryland to New England got a deluge of snow with depths of three feet in places. Power and telephone lines were wrecked.

Hundreds of thousands of homes and offices were left without electricity for long periods. Transportation was badly snarled, if not halted completely. Stores and schools were closed at many places. Office workers encountered extreme difficulties getting to their jobs.

In some areas the havoc was termed worse than hurricanes of recent years.

At least 21 deaths were attributed to the storm, which wheeled shoreward Wednesday from off the Carolina coast and swirled northward.

It was still snowing in many of the stricken areas today, but moderating weather was forecast in most sections by Saturday.

In Maryland the wet, freezing snowfall snapped power lines feeding some 100,000 homes. Annapolis was without power for nine hours. A large farm house in Baltimore burned to the ground when firemen were unable to surmount the drifts.

Highways were closed by fallen poles, and Pennsylvania Railroad service from Washington to New York was shut down for hours.

NEARLY TWO feet of snow fell in the Baltimore area and about the same amount blanketed Frederick, Md. Six storm-caused deaths were reported in Maryland.

As spring officially came in at 10:06 p. m., some 300,000 persons in the area of Washington, D. C., were without electricity. Power firms said it may take another 24 hours before full service is restored.

In the nation's capital, the White House telephone system was partially knocked out for about an hour. Security police at the White House gates used walkie talkies.

An evergreen tree was felled on the White House lawn. Air traffic at National Airport was cut 25 per cent. Some 10,000 homes had no telephone service.

Slashing into Pennsylvania, where six weather-connected deaths were reported, the storm caused widespread power failures in the southeast.

The town of Oley, Pa., 14 miles southeast of Reading, reported 36 inches of snow. The Harrisburg area was struggling under a 30-inch fall.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike was closed for 111 miles from Harrisburg to the New Jersey state line.

Preparations Well-Advanced For Another Jupiter Firing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An intimate look at the missile launching towers of this test center discloses that:

1. Preparations for another Jupiter-C Explorer satellite launching are fairly well advanced. The Redstone first stage of the rocket is in its mobile launching stand, undergoing a careful check.

The three high-speed stages (clusters of solid propellant rockets) have not yet been installed, nor has the satellite. The latter will be put in place the day of the launching.

2. The launching stand for the Vanguard currently is empty, but the Navy has two Vanguard three-stage rockets and their spherical satellites in a hangar near by. Altogether the Navy has seven more Vanguard vehicles in its satellite program.

Pronouncements by Army Secretary Brucker indicate that a Jupiter-C launching try may come within less than a week. Another Vanguard attempt is likely within a month.

THE LAUNCHING areas for all the missiles were opened for the first time this week to close inspection by newsmen.

The Air Force flew two plane-loads of writers and photographers (75 in all) from Washington to acquaint them with missile and satellite programs of all the services.

Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, commander of the test center, told his guests that the cause of the failure of Explorer II to attain an orbit has been easily identified and easily corrected.

He declined to indicate the cause or the corrective measures.

His Stabbing Job Proves Poor One

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Ismael Pina can relax. Officers in Juarez, Mexico, says the man he thought he stabbed to death is back at work and declines to prosecute.

Out in Patterson, Calif., Police Chief Alex Kosich said Pina, 35, walked into his office and said, "I want to give myself up. I'm wanted for murder."

Chief Kosich said Pina told him he was in a fight in Juarez Sept. 3 and stabbed Francisco Molina, son of the sheriff, and Molina died the next day.

A check in Juarez revealed that Molina received only a slight knife wound and was out of the hospital and back on his job the next day.

Farm Freeze Rushed to Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today rushed to President Eisenhower a farm price support freeze bill which he is considered likely to veto.

The Senate completed congressional action by accepting a House amendment to limit the bill's effect to 1958.

The Senate vote on that issue was 48-32. Previously the Senate had passed the measure without the limit 50-43. The House bill passed that branch 210-172.

Neither the Senate vote on original passage nor the House vote was heavy enough to override a veto, which takes a two-thirds majority.

The bill would prevent any reduction in price supports and acreage allotments below the levels of 1957.

The Senate, meantime, passed a bill to extend for two years beyond June 30 the government's authority to dispose of farm surplus commodities abroad in exchange for foreign currencies, or as gifts in case of disaster.

PASSAGE CAME on a voice vote after the Senate rejected 44-39 an effort by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) to force Secretary of Agriculture Benson to use barter deals for at least half a billion dollars worth of surpluses each year. Permissive authority for barter remains.

The Senate bill authorizes disposal of an added $3½ billion of farm commodities during the extension period. The administration had asked a one-year extension and authority for disposal of $1½ billion of commodities.

The disposal bill now goes to the House.

The measure freezing price supports and acreage allotments was limited by the House to one year. The Senate last week passed the bill without a shut-off date.

Only one of 19 Ohio representatives voted for the House bill.

The only Ohioan voting for the bill was James G. Polk, a Democrat from the Sixth District. Four Democrats were absent or didn't vote, and one Ohio Republican didn't vote.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) and four other Democrats teamed up with 29 Republicans Thursday to defeat a proposed directive for Benson to trade farm surpluses for foreign minerals, metals and materials.

Soil Bank Deadline Set for March 28

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reminds farmers that the period for withdrawing land from the acreage reserve of the soil bank land retirement program expires March 28.

Farmers had signed contracts or filed applications to retire slightly more than 18 million acres allotted them under control programs for production of corn, wheat, rice, cotton and tobacco. For doing this, they would earn payments totaling about $750 million.

In the case of corn land, more has been offered for retirement than could be paid for under limitations set by the law.

Metal Tube Blast Fatal to 2 Men

WEST COLUMBIA, Tex. (AP)—A mysterious metal tube exploded in a downtown garage Thursday and killed two men. Another was injured.

Dead were H. S. Pool, 64, owner of the garage, and Johnny French, 63. Nelva Glen Harris, 18, was in fair condition in a hospital.

The pipe was being cut up for junk. Officers theorized the workmen, using an acetylene torch, had cut into an old oilwell perforating shell that contained explosives used in testing to see whether oil has been reached.

O'Neill Ignores Rulings From Attorney General

Baldrige Appeal Rejected In $80,000 Damage Action

An attempt by George S. Baldrige to set aside an $80,000 damage judgment awarded to Mrs. Marie Patrick for the wrongful death of her husband, Game Protector Irvin J. Patrick, has been rebuffed by the Second District Court of Appeals.

Baldrige, who is serving a penitentiary term for manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Patrick on the Baldrige farm Nov. 15, 1955, had appealed the jury's verdict in a civil action brought by the game protector's widow after the close of the criminal case.

Mrs. Patrick had asked $150,000, but the lesser amount of damages was contained in a verdict signed by nine of the 12 jurors in the civil action which terminated Dec. 12, 1956.

The appellate court has now affirmed the $80,000 judgment.

BALDRIDGE appealed the damage verdict on grounds that (1) Judge Ferd Bader, Cincinnati, who presided over the trial, erred in his charge to the jury, (2) there was error in the rejection of evidence by a witness for the defense (3) that the judge erred in refusing to direct a verdict for Baldrige (4) that the judge erred in failing to reduce the amount of the verdict which the defense declared was "excessive," (5) that the verdict was contrary to law and not sustained by evidence and that (6) there were other errors in the conduct of the case.

The Court of Appeals, in an opinion filed in Common Pleas Court here Thursday afternoon, held that the refusal to admit certain evidence was a matter for discretion of the trial judge and that his action was not prejudicial to Baldrige, that there was no error in refusing to direct a verdict, that the charge to the jury was a correct statement of the laws pertaining to manslaughter, and that there was nothing in the record to indicate that the verdict was returned under the influence of passion or prejudice.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's highest court has ruled out—literally—picture-taking in the courtroom.

The State Supreme Court warned Thursday that to take pictures during court sessions is to invite prosecution for contempt. A rule which backs up the warning applies to all courts of record in Ohio.

Courts of record keep a permanent record of their proceedings and have the power to fine or imprison for contempt of court.

Rule 29, adopted unanimously by the judges Thursday, is considered to be an implementation of Canon 35. Canon 35 of judicial ethics bans photographs and radio or television broadcasts of court proceedings.

Supreme Court aides said the new rule is mandatory, while Canon 35 refers only to ethics. The canon does not oppose picture-taking before or after sessions when the court is in recess.

The State Supreme Court's action followed the appearance of photographs in the Cleveland Press, said to have been taken during sessions in the Statehouse Annex courtroom without knowledge of judges or spectators.

The court's special announcement said:

"It has come to the attention of this court that a newspaper recently published a series of photographs surreptitiously taken during a session thereof.

"Canon 35, canons of judicial ethics, read as follows:

"Proceedings in court should be conducted with fitting dignity and decorum. The taking of photographs in the courtroom during such proceedings and the broadcasting or televising of such proceedings from the courtroom tend to detract from the essential dignity of the proceedings, distract the witness in giving his testimony, and create misconceptions

The attorney general ruled in still a third opinion that Forest G. Ketterer can continue to serve as a trustee of Ohio State University although he lacks a legal right to that office. O'Neill's appointment of Ketterer to another term as trustee was not confirmed by the Ohio Senate during the last legislative session.

RIGHTS OF all three officials to their posts hinge on Senate confirmation of their appointments as required by law.

"When there is a vacancy by expiration of a term 'or otherwise' while the Senate is convened," Saxbe said, "it is mandatory upon the governor to fill the vacancy 'and forthwith report' it to the Senate. Having failed to do so in the instances of the two directorships, that precludes the legality of later making 'recess appointments.'"

Saxbe observed that the Ohio Constitution, the Legislature and the courts agree on the principle that "balance in government" is fundamental.

"To circumvent the authority of the Senate to advise and consent on appointments would violate the principle," Saxbe said. "However, it is not the policy of this office to deal with the question of constitutionality in an opinion; it can only be determined by a court of law."

"The future status of the two officials determined to be 'de facto' officers is a matter of fact to be determined by court action."

Aides of Saxbe explained that a "de facto" officer "does not have a legal right to office" but actually is in that office. They explained that a "de jure" officer holds his post in accordance with the law.

Saxbe's opinion said that Ketterer's de jure status ended when his term as trustee expired and he received a recess appointment that the Senate failed to confirm.

Fayette Driver Faces Loss Of License Under Point Law

The Ohio Registrar of Motor Vehicles wants to suspend the driver's license held by James R. Frisbee, 37, of Route 5, Washington C. H., first Fayette County to be so cited under the state's new "point system" law.

Frisbee has accumulated 12 penalty points—six each on two convictions for driving while intoxicated. And 12 points is sufficient for suspension of a driver's license for one year, although certain legal formalities must be observed.

Mrs. Dorothy West, Fayette County clerk of courts, has received a request for suspension of Frisbee's permit from State Registrar George C. Braden.

Frisbee will receive formal notice of the request, and a date will be assigned for hearing in Common Pleas Court.

DWI CONVICTIONS listed on the request include an appearance in Municipal Court here March 10 and another in the Greenfield mayor's court September 30, 1957. A third conviction for driving while intoxicated—in Washington C. H. Municipal Court June 24—is noted, but that was before the point system became effective.

The new law assigns point values to various traffic offenses, and when a motorist has not less than 12 points charged against him within a period of two years from his first conviction within that period, the state registrar may request suspension of his license for one year.

Driving while intoxicated is a 6-point offense.

Appointment Of Hygiene Chief 'Illegal'

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill said today Dr. Robert Haines will remain as state director of mental hygiene despite an adverse legal ruling on his appointment.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe ruled Dr. Haines' recent appointment was illegal and that O'Neill lacks authority to appoint Charles M. Noble, his secretary in charge of highways, as highway director.

"I believe this opinion to be wrong," O'Neill said. "Two things about this opinion should be noted."

"1. The opinion does not remove Dr. Haines from his office. The attorney general has held that all the acts and duties he has performed have been legal and he has been entitled to his pay. The attorney general has further taken the position that he can continue to perform all the duties and functions of his office."

"2. This opinion does not require the auditor of state to withhold his pay. In fact, as long as he holds the office and performs the duties of the office, he may be properly paid."

"SHOULD the auditor of state refuse to pay him, I shall recommend to Dr. Haines that he take appropriate legal action."

State Auditor James A. Rhodes, who previously threatened to cut Dr. Haines off the state payroll, said later he will withhold such action pending careful study of Saxbe's opinion. Haines receives $18,000 a year.

Although appointed for a six-year term, the governor said Dr. Haines could not be assured of serving out his full term without confirmation by the Senate in the 1959 legislative session. The governor said he will submit Dr. Haines' name for confirmation then.

Noble, since early last year, has served as secretary to the governor in charge of highways until he could qualify for appointment as highway director by living in Ohio for one full year. He completed the resident requirement in mid-January, but his appointment as highway director has been held up pending Saxbe's ruling.

The opinion said that in the absence of a highway director, first assistant George J. Thornymer legally can discharge the duties of director.

The attorney general ruled in still a third opinion that Forest G. Ketterer can continue to serve as a trustee of Ohio State University although he lacks a legal right to that office. O'Neill's appointment of Ketterer to another term as trustee was not confirmed by the Ohio Senate during the last legislative session.

RIGHTS OF all three officials to their posts hinge on Senate confirmation of their appointments as required by law.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

"What a wonderful thing it would have been if a map showing the location and size of every tile ditch had gone with the transfer of every farm," said former county commissioner Thomas H. Parrett, of the Sedalia Rd., when I halted along his farm where he and other men were searching for a tile drain in an adjacent field.

When I first saw the group, with a long steel rod, and was not close enough to recognize Tom, I wondered if someone was searching for uranium or some other deposit.

I have also thought about maps of farm drains and wondered why more farm owners do not have maps showing where the underground drains are located, how deep they are and what size drain pipe was used.

Now when a farm owner must seek blindly for a tile drain, it requires time and effort. Besides, it is not very satisfactory.

I have noticed in recent months several farmers are laying additional tile drains, tied in with existing drains. In most instances, I'll venture, they had to use a rod to locate the tile drain, or did some good guessing.

Most of the land in Fayette County is well drained with tile fact will last indefinitely, but there are still a few wet spots

Cleveland Harbor Gets First Ship

CLEVELAND — Cleveland harbor had its first arrival of the 1958 Great Lakes shipping season Thursday. The John W. Boardman docked with 35,000 barrels of cement from Alpena, Mich.

The 350-foot vessel manned by 38 sailors left Detroit early Monday for the 536-mile trip to Alpena and Cleveland.

James M. Burke, 52, skipper of the Boardman, said the ship ran into 24-inch ice on Lake Huron and needed assistance from the Coast Guard ice breaker Mackinaw to get through.

"No ice in Lake St. Clair or Lake Erie, though," Burke added.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD.

which need draining to insure proper farming conditions.

There are hundreds of miles of tile drains, ranging from two inches to five feet (East End sewer) in diameter in Fayette County. The greatest mileage probably is of the four and five inches in diameter.

"INFARE" DINNERS

One of the former time-honored customs following a wedding (if the event was pleasing to both families) was for the groom's parents to give a big dinner and invite the entire families as guests.

It was known as an "infare" dinner (now such events are called receptions) and the name is similar to the former "house-warmings" given in the new home following a wedding.

Webster says that "infare" were given by the newlyweds, or by the husband in receiving his wife into his home.

Anyway, a half century ago and for a long time prior to that, the "infare" were given by the groom's parents as a welcome to the bride.

Many local residents who are now well along in years will recall these events. Invariably the dinner was an elaborate one and the occasion was a pleasure to all concerned.

PHILODENDRON BLOOMS

Mrs. Russell Mitchell of Jeffersonville is one of many Fayette Countians who grow philodendrons, a tropical American aroid vine which thrives either in water or moist soil and attains great length under favorable conditions.

Mrs. Mitchell has a philodendron at present which is 28 feet long and is still growing rapidly.

Sometime ago Mrs. Mitchell had the rare pleasure of seeing a philodendron in bloom, and was amazed to see that it much resembled the blossom of a calla lily.

The plant in bloom was in the Ray Greenhouse in Springfield and the owner regarded it as such a rarity that he sent it to friends in Florida.

It is the first philodendron I have ever heard of that bore a blossom.

Importance of the Navy's New Weapon

The Navy recently announced a weapon which is of great significance in the present international situation. It may represent the greatest advance in the field of anti-submarine warfare since the end of World War II.

The new weapon is officially called the RAT. The letters are an abbreviation for "Rocket-Assisted Torpedoe." The rocket-assisted torpedoe is already in operational use in the Atlantic and the Pacific fleets and is certainly a revolutionary type of torpedoe.

It is fired into the air by a rocket, dropped into the water by parachute, and then begins to hunt enemy submarines.

Because our prospective enemy, Russia, possesses upward of five hundred submarines, and because they are thought to be constantly off the coasts of the United States, observing and maneuvering, an anti-submarine weapon of this kind is vital to U. S. security.

The best part of the Navy's announcement is that it is an announcement of something which has already been accomplished, and not of something which will be done in the future—maybe. The new weapon is said to be capable of allowing a destroyer to sink a submarine without getting within torpedoe-range.

The new weapon, in addition to greatly improved underwater listening gear, will enable surface ships to detect the presence of submarines at great distances, and sink them before they come into range. This weapon, combined with the atomic or hydrogen depth charge, means that submarines might be in for heavy going in another emergency.

While the submarine has also improved its effectiveness, and its torpedoes might be equipped with nuclear warheads, it appears that the defense is keeping pace with the offense in this phase of sea warfare.

Friend in Port to Men of Sea

By Hal Boyle

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—"My god is so great. I am only a piece of nothing," said Joe Palughi.

But to thousands of sailors around the world, Joe Palughi is distinctly a somebody. He is a friend at port to men at sea—men who often feel nobody cares what happens to them.

Joe does. That is why, when their ships dock here, seamen of all nationalities—English, Greek, Italian, Japanese—head first for "Joe's Place," a restaurant.

Word has gone from ship to ship that here is a place where seamen can spin a yarn, eat or drink, or bring his girl and dance in peace. Nobody will rob or roll him. And if he needs help—there is Joe, an ex-seaman himself who knows the sailor's problems.

Palughi, a short, dark-haired patient man whose eyes always look as if they are fixed on the horizon, is deeply religious and a Pope Plus has made him a Knight of St. Gregory.

To many landlubbers the sailor ashore is a noisy troublemaker. To others he is merely someone to exploit or rob. Few bother to try to understand him.

"A seaman actually is a wonderful fellow," insisted Joe. "His mouth may sometimes be as big as his heart. But he isn't vicious. He's lonesome. And usually he is harmless and easy to handle if you know his ways."

Joe was born on a mountain farm in Italy and was brought to this country at the age of 2. He never has been to school. At 14 he enlisted in the Navy by using his older brother's birth certificate.

In World War I he served aboard a U. S. destroyer in the British Channel.

After that for several years he sailed as a common seaman. Then he got a job here driving a cab. One of his tasks was to meet the merchant ships, and he became indignant at the way roistering sailors were plucked like chickens in waterfront dens.

In time Joe built up a big cab business of his own, built up a big restaurant, too, as a haven ashore for seamen.

"I won't let a man be rolled, or taken over by bar girls," he said. "And if he gets in trouble, I like to try to help him."

Here is his philosophy: "I am grateful to my Creator and am humble toward Him. I have no kicks against life, because this life was given to me. Therefore it does not belong to me."

"I do the best I can. If I desired more, God would give it to me. He has already gone out of His way to be kind to me, and I don't deserve that."

'Culture' or Strong Muscles?

By George Sokolsky

The Russian propaganda machine manages by constant repetition to force upon our minds certain symbols and concepts which we repeat and which after prolonged repetition come to be accepted as our own.

One of these concepts is as old as the "hands across the seas" symbol.

I was sitting next to a wise man recently, and we were listening to a speaker say that we should all know each other better and that he is happy that the United States is extending its cultural inter-relations.

The man next to me said that the only people he ever quarreled with were those whom he knew, like his wife, for instance.

He said that the people in all this world whom we know best are the British. To a lesser degree, the same is true about the Germans. The two largest components of the American population are the British and the Germans; yet they are the only nations against whom we have fought two wars.

The people we hardly know at all are Indians, Indonesians, Ceylonese, and other Asiatics but we sputter all over ourselves when we think of them.

Somehow the less we know them, the more wonderful they seem to us. So, for instance, we got all excited over an Indonesian Socialist, by name Sukarno, who was given a red-carpet reception when he came to the United States, but who now goes in for a doctrine called "guided democracy."

According to the anti-Communist Supatrans, this "guided democracy" is a cover for letting the Communists join the government. Precisely what the difference is between Sukarno's "guided democracy," and Nasir's "presidential democracy," and Tito's benevolent paternalism, I cannot tell you.

Suffice it, that nobody can be too angry about something he knows nothing about, although he may have prejudices on the subject based on general principles. Let us say that I listen to David Oistrakh play the Beethoven Violin Concerto. Also Isaac Stern plays it. Also Francescatti plays it. Also Elman and everybody else.

The most I can say is that Oistrakh is a first-class violinist who can play the Beethoven Violin Concerto with ability, understanding and sympathy. But does that make me like Khushchev? Does it cause me to prefer the Russian system of government or the Russian way of life?

Or look at the other side of the coin. A Negro trumpet player wants to go to Russia to play the trumpet there in jazz style. His name is "Satchmo" Armstrong. I do not know what Satchmo means, although someone told me, maybe to fool me, that it is a nickname for a big mouth. I heard him once and marveled at his enormous chest expansion. What he played bored me, but my son says it is good, which explains the difference in generations.

Now after the Russians have listened to the aforesaid Satchmo, will they have a better understanding of the American Constitution, the capitalist system, the revolt against Puritanism, and other manifestations of American life?

When we speak about cultural exchanges, and we decide not to leave such exchange to the accidents of life and the free will of individuals, but force them by government propaganda and recruitment, what do we actually accomplish?

Recently, a bright young man and his wife upbraided me for not getting hot and bothered about the failure of our government to spend more money to advertise our civilization at the World's Fair to be held in Belgium.

To tell the truth, I had barely paid any attention to this subject, but while I was being upbraided, it occurred to me to wonder who will be convinced by what at this World's Fair?

If we are to resolve our cold war with Soviet Russia, we have to convince only one man, namely, Khushchev. All right, for argument's sake, let us agree that we have to convince also Mikoyan, Bulganin and three or four others of their colleagues.

What will convince these hard-boiled second generation Communists? It is not likely to be the Rockettes or the Philadelphia Symphony.

Well, what would convince them that they ought to cut down the cost of the cold war? Probably nothing but evidence that even if they get in the first smack, we have enough to destroy quickly and with perfection the material gains of their revolution.

Are You Allergic To Anyone You Know?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PEOPLE can be allergic to people!

For years, I've been writing columns about allergies—food allergies which produce a skin rash, pollens and dusts which cause hay fever and asthma, and countless other irritants which cause various reactions.

But, now, let's talk about allergy to personalities.

Hard To Explain

You may be the best-natured guy in the phone book but there are some persons who will "rub you the wrong way." Very often you can't even give a good reason why you feel the way you do about a certain individual, but his personality irritates you every time you meet.

Sometimes you may not even be aware of your feelings of resentment. But there they are, gnawing away at your emotions. At any time, they may erupt in an outburst of temper.

Sometimes the causes of your hostility are readily apparent. The person you resent, the one to whom you are "allergic," may be a threat to your security. He may embarrass or humiliate you; he may make you envious.

Makes You Nervous

Whatever the reason, you are apt to be nervous in his presence. Now I don't expect you to love everybody. I don't even expect you to get along with everyone you meet. But don't become closely associated with anyone whose personality irks you.

Strange as it may seem, some persons marry individuals whose personalities irritate them frequently if not constantly. Generally, such marriages are bound to be short ones.

The same holds true for business partnerships. If you are allergic to your associate, don't expect to have a smoothly running organization.

Avoid The Irritant

As with other allergies, the easiest way to solve the problem is to avoid the irritant. In this case, avoid the person or persons who get you down.

Recognize the reason for the trouble and then leave the person who bothers you alone. Forget him and relax.

This may be difficult to do, for very often the person who irritates you most is one whom you envy. Once you recognize this fact, and learn to ignore his actions, his accomplishments, you will find life much more pleasant.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

C. T.: I have coughed up blood for the last few days. Otherwise I feel fine.

Do you think I might have tuberculosis?

Answer: Coughing up blood does not always indicate tuberculosis. Irritation of the throat, lung infections, lung tumors, polyps, as well as tuberculosis, may all cause the coughing up of blood.

It would be well for you to have a thorough examination by your physician.

Legislative Study Panel Told Eminent Domain Law Unfair

COLUMBUS (AP)—Witnesses have stressed before an Ohio legislative study committee that the state's eminent domain laws should be changed.

Ernest J. Halambek of the Cleveland city law department, said statute should more clearly show how compensation should be allowed. He cited a Cleveland case in which the Langeneau Manufacturing Co. claimed payment for the cost of moving machinery and shutting down a plant that was taken in a transit company case.

"We think that something should be done in the code to establish what is and what is not compensable," Halambek told the committee.

Rep. Louis J. Schneider Jr. (R-Hamilton), committee chairman, said suggestions received at the hearing today and tomorrow would be considered for recommendation to the 1959 legislature.

M. J. Smith, chief counsel for the Muskingum watershed conservancy district, urged definite power for an appropriating authority to bring witnesses onto land and other property that is being condemned. He said some owners have refused to permit officials to bring in witnesses to help with evaluations.

Smith said separate injuries should consider condemnation cases. He asserted that members of a single jury considering a series of cases become confused over details. Jurors also feel that their decision in the last case should be consistent with that of their first case, he added.

Rep. William W. Milligan, (R-Shelby), a committee member, asked what was wrong with consistent awards in a proper proportion cases. He said most complaints stem from a difference in awards to neighbors whose land was appropriated.

Smith replied that fair verdicts created no problems but that confusion resulted when a single jury hears a series of cases.

Common Pleas Judge George B. Marshall of Columbus said the method of hearing condemnation cases in his court created "a tremendous waste of jury personnel."

The judge explained that out of

Yes, Your Growing-Up Child Could Go to College Abroad

By DOROTHY WHIPPLE, M.D.

NEW YORK (AP)—Did it ever occur to you that your growing-up son or daughter might study abroad for a year? Perhaps if the idea did graze your consciousness you brushed it aside as one of those things only possible to the moneyed class to which you definitely do not belong. But that's where you are wrong.

Last year there were approximately 126,000 students studying in countries other than their own and of these 74,000 were being partly or wholly subsidized by a scholarship or a fellowship. If so many young people can do it why not one of yours?

A year spent in another country can be a tremendous experience for any youngster. The value is not only in the actual studies pursued but in coming to understand another country, in living as one of them, in learning to feel as they feel. After such a year the student's attitude toward "foreigners" is forever changed.

Under the skin we are all human beings. We work and play, love and hate, strive for a better life or give up in despair pretty much the same whether we do it in the U.S.A. or in Timbuctoo. Knowing this because it is part of you is one of the things this old world of ours needs if we are ever to achieve that dreamed of world peace. Governments can fight over frontiers, over imports and exports, over who's going to run the canal, but when the people of the world truly know each other it will be much harder to whip up any country into a war hatred of another.

Since World War II there has been a great increase in exchange students throughout the world. The United Nations has compiled a book called "Study Abroad" in which all the various study programs are listed. This book can be obtained from the United Nations for $1.50. Obtaining this book is the best place to begin if one of your children is interested. In this book you will find the names and addresses of all the organizations sponsoring foreign study, their requirements for a student's eligibility, and the amount of financial assistance available.

There are so many different programs and projects it is difficult to make generalizations; however, the majority are for students who have completed high school. You can study almost any subject. There is a fellowship for an American to study mural painting in Rome, another to study education of gifted children in France, or agricultural problems above the Arctic Circle or at the Equator. There are many fellowships for general courses in the liberal arts, in natural science, in social science etc.

Lancaster Couple Wins Tax Dispute

COLUMBUS (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Dan L. Pickering of Lancaster have won their fight to get a lower intangible property tax on $3,440 shares of St. Regis Paper Co. common stock they owned on Jan. 1, 1956.

The Board of Tax Appeals reversed a revised assessment the state tax commissioner had made against the stock.

The stock paid a 45-cent dividend in 1955. The Pickering's obtained the stock in exchange for General Container Corp. stock they had owned. The tax commissioner, Stanley J. Bowers, contended the $1.35 dividend paid on General Container stock also was taxable. The board disagreed.

By Mrs. Harry Locke
BLOOMINGTON (AP)—The MYF will hold its semi-monthly meeting at 6:30 p. m. Sunday in the Methodist Church.

A DANCING PARTY, honoring students in the Jack Sherrick dance course was an event of last Friday night.

Mr. Clarence (Mac) McDermott, Wilmington, was the master of ceremonies. All music was recorded. Refreshments, were served by the Band Mothers. Mrs. Darrell Coil presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Edgar McFadden and Mrs. McCoy assisted with the sandwiches.

Square dancing by the group concluded the evening festivities, with Mr. McDermott, calling the numbers.

The root of most accidents, it was disclosed, is the person involved rather than mechanical failure. Mention was also made that no member of the council has met with an accident during the past year. Safety Stickers are to be purchased for display on the cars of members.

MR. AND MRS. GILBERT Bidle entertained a group of friends to dinner at their home Sunday, the occasion honoring their son, Jack, on his birthday. SUB Appeal Case Reset for April 9

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—Hearing of an appeal on Supplemental Unemployment Benefits has been put off until 10 a. m. on April 9 by the Seventh District Court of Appeals which a week ago said it would hear the case April 1.

The delay, the appellate court explained, was because one of the parties appealing has not yet filed its appeal and is legally entitled to file any time within a 20-day period ending April 3.

Common Pleas Judge Erskine Maiden Jr. ruled on March 5 that SUB payments could be made without being deducted from state unemployment compensation. An appeal against that decision was filed by the state Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Ohio Basketball Tourney Starts This Afternoon

7 of 8 Teams Sport
Unblemished Records
For Season's Play

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—The most fantastic state championship tournament in Ohio's high school basketball history gets under way today at Ohio State's St. John Arena.

Four teams with identical 24-0 records go after the Class AA title, and three unbeaten quintets and one with a 22-3 mark battle for the Class A laurels.

Middletown, winner the last two seasons and riding a 76-game winning streak, is favored in the big school division in which 387 teams started the campaign. The smaller school contingent, in which the four finalists are survivors of 646 starters, is wide open.

Jerry Lucas, 6-10 senior who holds all the state tournament scoring records, is the reason the marvelous Middies are favored to take Columbus North in tonight's fray and then triumph over the survivor of the Cleveland East Tech-Zanesville scrap.

In this afternoon's games Pleasantville (22-3) faced Bucyrus Holmes-Liberty (24-0), and Northwestern of Wayne County tangled with Dixie of Montgomery County, each sporting a 27-0 record. The winners meet at 2 p. m. Saturday for the title won a year ago by Ayersville of Defiance.

In addition to Lucas, the Middies have a defensive setup which has stopped everyone over the last three years. Coach Paul Walker, who appears ready to move into the collegiate field after the weekend scraps, says his defense is a "stratified, transitional man-to-man defense with a zone principle."

Opposing coaches find the definition as difficult to understand as to penetrate. In the 76-game winning streak the Middies have triumphed by an 84.6 to 57.2 average margin.

Walker is going after his sixth championship in 12 years, and Middletown after its eighth in 15. If the Middies make it, they'll become the first team since Dayton Stivers in 1928-29-30 to triumph three straight years.

Sellouts of over 13,000 were assured for both of today's sessions, as well as Saturday's Class AA finals. Tickets for tonight's Class AA games were selling for $25 each at Zanesville, with few available at the price as the home town fans held on to their ducats to watch the 1928 and 1955 champions go against each Tech.

Columbus, Dayton and Zanesville stations were scheduled to televise the contests, and heavy statewide radio coverage also was on tap, assuring the stay-at-homes a look or a listen.

Winners of today's Class A games meet at 2 p. m. Saturday for the championship, with the Class AA finalists clashing at 8 p. m.

K-State Gets Nod In NCAA Tourney

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (P)—Three-time champion Kentucky and neophytes Temple, Kansas State and Seattle tonight begin the scramble that in 24 hours will lead one of the four to the NCAA basketball championship.

Kentucky (21-6) meets Temple (26-2) in the opening semifinal, followed by K-State (22-3) vs. Seattle (22-5). Tonight's winners play for the title Saturday night after the consolation game.

Big bruising Kansas State, the Big Eight champion, rates even money favorite with the odds-makers. Kentucky's Southeastern Conference kings, old hands at NCAA play with 10 appearances and three titles, moved up at a late hour as second choice at 9-5.

Vinton Jury Finds Slayer To Be Guilty

MCARTHUR (P)—A Vinton County common pleas jury found Virgil R. Roberts, 73, guilty of second degree murder Thursday in the shotgun slaying of George Schaefer, 54, Nov. 26.

Roberts, a former sheriff's deputy in Kentucky and a one-time member of the Louisa, Ky., police force, contended throughout the four day trial that the shooting was in self-defense. Judge C. W. Smith said he will read sentence Monday.

COUPLE OF WILLIES—Those two jockey champions, Willie Hartack (left) and Willie Shoemaker, who have copped six riding crowns between them, get together at Gulfstream Park, Hallandale, Fla., where they now are competing against each other. (International)

Brooklyn-Born Dakota Star Heads Little All-America '5'

NEW YORK (P)—Jimmy Daniels, a ball-hawking 5-11 whiz from Brooklyn who led South Dakota to the NCAA small college championship, dominates the 1958 little basketball All-America announced today by The Associated Press.

Joining the diminutive senior on the first team are 6-3 Dick Barnett, whose sensational set shooting sparked Tennessee State to its second straight NAIA championship; 6-4 Jim Smith of Steubenville (Ohio); 6-4 Mel Peterson of Wheaton (Ill.); and 6-9 Bennie Swain of Texas Southern.

They were chosen from recommendations of sportswriters and broadcasters. Similar to the big All-America, four are Negroes—Daniels, Barnett, Smith and Swain.

Daniels led South Dakota to a 64-60 upset over defending champion Wheaton in the semifinals of the NCAA small college tourney. Barnett, a junior, was sensational on 20-foot set shots as he sparked Tennessee State to an 83-73 victory over top seeded and previously unbeaten Western Illinois for the NAIA title. He was voted the most valuable player in the tourney.

Peterson, a soph, was Wheaton's star all season as the crusaders lost only three of 36 games and a 22-game streak that was snapped by South Dakota. Swain, a senior, led Texas Southern to a third place finish in the NAIA.

Players from New England schools dominated the second team composed of Rudy Finderson of Brandeis, Dick Kross of American International, Nick Nedemko of St. Michaels (Vt.), Ed Kazakovich of Scranton and Vern Baggenstoss of St. Cloud (Minn.) Teachers.

Bob Hamblin, who led Little Chapman (Calif.) to an upset victory over Fresno State in the NCAA tourney; Bill McAfoos, of Western Illinois; Charles Grote, of Georgetown (Ky.); Jim Bond of Pasadena and Al Pursell of Coe make up the 1958 third team. Jerry Burnett of Arkansas State; Jack Milam of Western Illinois; and Herb Lake of Youngstown are on the honorable mention list of 62.

Joe Collins Shuns Deal with Phillies

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (P)—The first baseman problem with the Philadelphia Phillies remained desperate today when Joe Collins of the New York Yankees retired from baseball after being sold to the Quaker City club for the $20,000 waiver price.

"If I can't be a Yankee, I'm through with baseball," Collins, 35, said at camp here.

Philadelphia had sought a first sacker after Ed Bouchee, an outstanding 1957 rookie, began taking psychiatric treatment.

Harry Anderson was given a crack at the job, but now is in the outfield.

Sugar Puts High Polish On Left Hook

CHICAGO (P)—Sugar Ray Robinson is putting a high polish on his left hook for delivery to mid-dleweight champion Carmen Basilio Tuesday night.

It won't come in the form of a surprise package. Basilio knows the Sugar Man has a left hook. If he doesn't, Gene Fulmer will tell him.

It was Robinson's perfectly-timed left hook that sent Fulmer sprawling in the fifth round a year ago as Robinson recaptured the 160-pound title for the third time.

Robinson is cagey enough to show onlookers just what he wants to show them in sparring sessions. Two days ago he appeared so rusty and acted so much his age of 37 that odds favoring Basilio rose to 11-5.

But Thursday he displayed the cat-like grace and the sharp, powerful punches that have made him perfect. His timing was near perfect. The odds well could settle down to 8-5.

It has become apparent that Robinson's main concern is to get Basilio out of his crouch. When the champion crowds in, ring experts think Robinson will uncoil a barrage to the body. As Basilio begins to crouch, Sugar Ray will go for the button with short, crushing left hooks.

Lemon To Start Against Cubs '9'

TUCSON, Ariz. (P)—Bob Lemon, coming along slowly after his arm injury last season, will go to the mound for the first time this season when Cleveland plays the Chicago Cubs Sunday.

A 20-game winner seven times but only a 6-11 performer in 1957 because of his arm, Lemon can pitch as far as he wants in the game, Tribe Manager Bobby Bragan said. The 37-year-old right-hander has been testing his arm in batting practice hurling and feels he's now ready to try it out under game conditions.

Another ailing hurler, Cal McLish, will test his injured elbow against Baltimore Saturday.

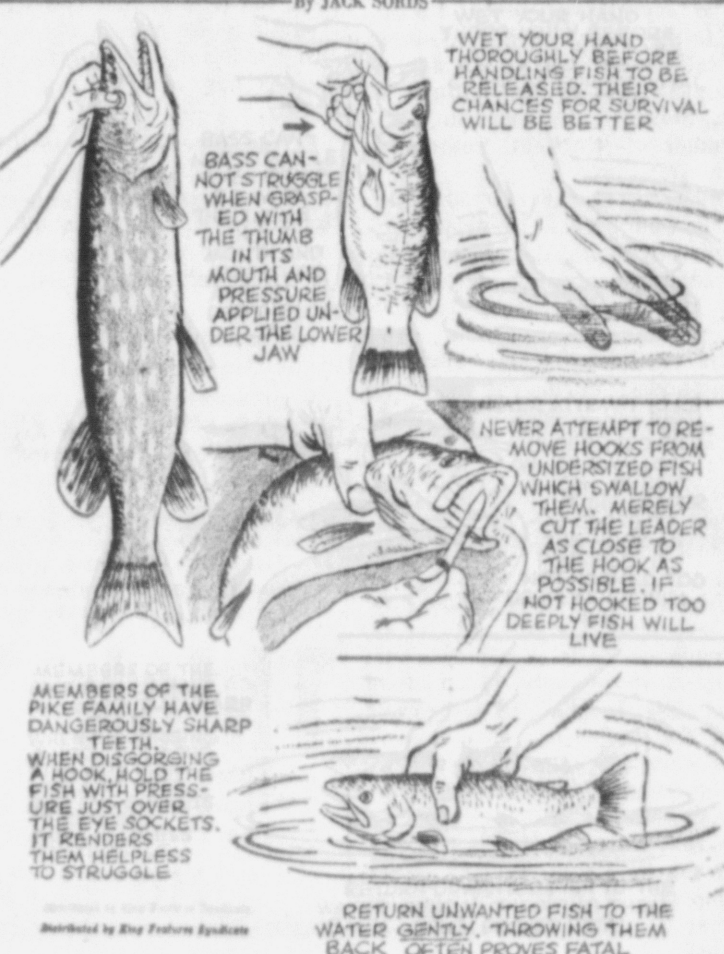

Logart Is Favored To Defeat Akins

NEW YORK (P)—Cuba's sleek Isaac Logart pits his speed and boxing skill against the punching power of veteran Virgil Akins in a 12-round televised bout tonight that will earn the winner a shot at the welterweight championship within 90 days.

Logart is a 7-5 favorite to win the third and "rubber" clash of the 147-pounders at Madison Square Garden.

For this semifinal of the elimination tournament each will receive a $20,000 guarantee plus the right to face Vince Martinez for the vacant title.

All-Star Cage Pilots Picked

Walker, Broski Stated
For North-South Tilt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Paul Walker of Middle town's defending state champions, and John Broski of Cleveland East Tech's challengers, will coach the South and North All-Stars, respectively, in the first annual intra-state high school basketball game June 20 at Troy.

The selections were made Thursday night as district delegates of the Ohio High School Basketball Coaches' Assn. met here.

Personnel of the two 10-man all-star squads also was selected by the mentors on a statewide vote, but announcement was delayed until after the state tournament.

Walker will coach the All-Ohio quintet which faces Kentucky's standouts June 14 at Middletown. The Middletown mentor, in 11 years at the Middle helm, has piled up five state championships and a 248-39 won-lost record. Undoubtedly Jerry Lucas, his three-time All-Ohio choice, will be one of the players on his rebel quintet in the North-South fracas.

Broski will be assisted by Dan Baker, coach of Northwestern team of Wayne County, which has won 27 straight victories this season and meets Dixie (27-0) of Montgomery County in today's class A semi-finals in the state meet.

Broski, in his fourth year at Cleveland East Tech, has reached the state finals twice—this year with a 24-0 record. His overall record is 93-12.

Walker's assistant will be J. Franklin Miller of Pleasantville, also a state finalist with a 22-3 record. Pleasantville goes against Bucyrus Holmes-Liberty (24-0) in today's state playoffs.

The coaches will announce later the 10 northern and 10 southern Ohio players comprising the squads for the contest, to be played at Troy's Hobart Arena.

11 Washington C. H. Students Enter Exhibits in Science Show

Eleven Washington C. H. students today are getting their science exhibits ready to take to Wittenberg College in Springfield Saturday for Ohio Science Day of the western district.

Nine of them are in the senior high school and two in junior high school (seventh and eighth grades). Two of the exhibits were prepared jointly by two students.

Five entries will be in the general science division by students of Denzil Leggett, Charles Glover and Marvin Merritt. Two of the other exhibits are in the biology division by students of Glover. One is in the mathematics division, a joint exhibit by students of Mrs. Madonna Gordon and the other is in the physics division by a student of Harry Winter, the physics and chemistry teacher.

The trip to Springfield will be made by bus. Winter, Leggett and Glover will accompany the students. Six of the entrants are boys and five are girls.

PROBABLY the most unusual entry is a collection of snakes entitled "Reptiles of North America," which will be entered by John Brubaker, a freshman.

From the junior high school, there will be a general science exhibit of "Miniature Universe" by Eddie Kerns, a seventh grader, and another in general science, "Electronic Organ," by George Fryer, an eighth grader.

Both of the other two entries in the general science division are by freshmen. Mike Chakeres has one, "Dr. Sunshine Investigates Our Changing Weather," and David

What Has Become Of House Trailers Here Past Year?

What's happened to all the house trailers?

That is the question asked by County Auditor Harry Allen, who issued 90 licenses for residence house trailers during 1957, but has sold only seven in the pre-deadline weeks so far this year.

Anyone who is living in a house trailer must come to the auditor's office and pay the $18 fee for a 1958 residence trailer license, some time before the end of the month, Allen pointed out. Number sold so far "seems to be quite a ways under what we should have," he said. Allen admitted that, because of the vast fluctuations in trailer population, the number sold this year may be far under 1957. But he added: "I think there must be more than this."

Negligible a few years ago, the income from trailer licenses has become a major factor in the budgets of some industrial counties during recent years.

Young Fugitive Picked Up Here

Acting on a tip from a former foster home that he had been there, city police picked up Melvin Lee Garrison, 16, fugitive from the Boy's Industrial School at Lancaster, at 11:15 p. m. Thursday at Delaware St. and Rose Ave., Garrison had escaped from the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus, where he had been sent by BIS authorities. He previously lived in Washington C. H. but was sent to the BIS from Yellow Springs.

Garrison was picked up Friday morning at the police station by authorities from the Juvenile Diagnostic Center and returned there.

Birthday Celebration Girls' Groups To Attend Church Sunday

Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds of Fayette County, dressed in their official uniforms, will launch the beginning of their organization's 48th Birthday Week (March 22-29) by attending services in churches throughout the area Sunday.

In many instances, leaders will take their groups as a body to church that they may worship together.

This is in keeping with the first Law of the Camp Fire Girls: "Worship God".

SINCE MARCH 17, 1910 when Camp Fire was founded by the distinguished educators, Dr. and Mrs. Luther Halsey Gulick, the organization has emphasized and encouraged spiritual development of each of its members, according to Mrs. Winston Hill, local council president.

Camp Fire's program is intended to supplement the training given in the home, at the church and in the school Mrs. Hill explained.

Mrs. J. E. Tremlett, president of the Camp Fire Leader's Group, said that it was her understanding that the majority of the Camp Fire and Blue Bird Leaders are extending invitations to their groups to attend church with them.

Garfield Commandery Inspection Is Held

Garfield Commandery No. 28, Knights Templar, received high commendation by Robert Taylor of Columbus, a past grand eminent commander of Ohio, following the annual inspection by him Wednesday night in the Masonic Temple here.

The inspection opened at 4 p. m. with the Order of the Temple ritual exemplified by the degree team headed by Ralph Junk of Mt. Sterling, the eminent commander of Garfield Commandery.

Following dinner at 6:30 p. m., which was served to around 150 knights by members of the Eastern Star, the opening in full form was held in the lodge room at 7:30 p. m.

The candidate taken into the Commandery during the inspection was Irvin A. Reeves of Washington C. H.

HEADING the Masonic dignitaries here for the occasion was Russell Davis of Mansfield, grand eminent commander of Ohio, the highest office of order in the state. Visiting knights were here for the ceremonies from Cincinnati, Columbus, Portsmouth, Mansfield, Circleville, London and Greenfield. In the gathering, too, were 10 past eminent commanders of Garfield Commandery: C. U. Armstrong, Milbourne Flee, Robert E. Parrett, Harry V. Heath, Howard M. Clark, Ralph T. Ray, Karl Chapman, William McFadden, Omar Sturgeon and Glenn Brock.

There are approximately 150 knights in Garfield Commandery. Most of them are residents of Fayette County, but there also are a number who live in or near Greenfield, New Holland and Mt. Sterling.

Washing Machine Will Serve As All-Around House Servant

Your washing machine can do more than just washing. It can dye your things and starch them—and perform these functions more simply and efficiently than the traditional way.

Practically anything you would ordinarily wash in hot water can be dyed in your clothes washer. Generally, this is the procedure to follow:

After laundering the article to be dyed, fill the washer with the hottest water available (at least 140 degrees F., even if you have to boil water and add it to the machine).

PREPARE THE dye to suit the weight of the material in accordance with the directions on the dye package. Add the dye solution to the washer, and then put in the article which should be wet and free of stains before being placed in the dye solution. Time of agitation in the washer depends on whether the machine is automatic or not. With an automatic, just set the dial for the longest wash period.

It is not recommended that woens or glass or metal fibers be dyed in a washing machine. Also, the colors black and navy blue are not suited to washer dyeing.

Starching in a washing machine is as uncomplicated as dyeing. You can do the complete starching job in the washer, or starch piece by piece as you usually would, then put them in the washer to spin out the excess starch.

To do a complete starching job a concentrated hot-starch solution should be added to the wash. This type of powdered or lump starch is economical in a job that requires a great deal of starch. Ordinarily a light finish requires at least one-half cup of starch, and a medium finish, possibly one-and-a-half cups.

Small Kitchen Appliances Are Important in Today's Living

Open any recent cookbook or turn the pages of the women's magazine and you will find evidence that small appliances play an important part in today's way of living.

More recipes are being presented that require the use of rotisseries, frypans, fryers, broilers and grills than ever before.

And from all reports, homemakers are delighted with these new methods of food preparation. The mixers, blenders, and grinders make quick work of once-tedious jobs, thus enabling cooks to make such recipes as potato pancakes, vichyssoise, or tasty spreads and dips within a few minutes.

No doubt about it—electric housewares are contributing much to our modern way of living and eating.

AN IMPROVEMENT which has appeared on some frypans, fryers, and electric pressure cookers is the detachable thermostatic control.

The control is now combined with the plug rather than built into the appliance to be completely immersed in water when it is washed. Several heavy-duty motors capable of operating various attachments have been introduced recently.

One manufacturer has designed a motor so that it can be installed beneath the counter. A shaft protrudes through the counter surface to connect with the attachments, which include a knife sharpener, mixer, juicer, and blender.

WITH THE MANY blenders, portable mixers and standard mixers on the market today, it is important to know their differences and uses.

A standard mixer can be used for beating egg whites, egg yolks, fudge, cooked frostings, popovers and other light or heavy batters; whipping cream, gelatin desserts, and vegetables; and creaming shortening and sugar.

Attachments add other uses such as: extracting fruit juices, grinding coffee, chopping, slicing and shredding foods; churning butter, opening cans, shelling peas, peeling potatoes, and turning the crank of an ice cream freezer.

Most standard mixer heads can be detached from their stands and used to mash potatoes or beat frostings at the range.

PORTABLE or hand held mixers are smaller and lighter than standard mixers. When not in use they can be hung on a wall bracket or stored in a drawer.

They cannot be used with attachments not mixing very heavy batters, but they are adequate for many mixing and beating tasks.

Standard mixers have the advantage of leaving both hands free to measure and add ingredients and to scrape the bowl when necessary.

A homemaker who has adequate counter space and does considerable baking would probably prefer a standard mixer.

A BLENDER can be used to puree vegetables and fruits, shred vegetables for a salad, grate coconut, onions, potatoes, orange and lemon rinds, cheese, and dry bread; chop nuts or blend them into a nut butter; emulsify salad dressings; blend liquids, sandwich fillings and spreads, chop cooked meats; liquefy vegetables and fruits; mix a cake from a prepared mix; blend part of ingredients for cakes, cookies and quick breads. Blenders with low speeds can be used for whipping cream.

As can readily be seen, there are several overlapping uses for mixers and blenders.

A blender, however, works best with small amounts of food; it will not beat egg whites, crush ice cubes, mash potatoes, or mix the batter for a large cake.

But the blender has its own unique function—it can be used to liquefy solids, such as raw fruits, and to homogenize raw vegetables with a liquid base. And as it does so, flavors and textures are blended in such a unique fashion that some writers have termed "blending" a new method of "cook-without heat."

LEFTOVER vegetables may be pureed and used as the base for smooth creamy soups. If in spite of everything your gravy gets lumpy, just pour it into the blender and blend until smooth.

Blended raw applesauce and blender—grated potatoes for potato pancakes each have their own incomparable flavor.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD.

COOL THOSE HOT DAYS—Some visitor to The Appliance Show will receive this 20 inch Polar Cub reversible fan held by Ray Noel. It will be a gift from Cussins & Fearn.

Out-of-Season Foods Available All Year Now

Modern Appliances
Simplify Problems
Of Homemaking

Few modern housewives dread "settling in for the winter months."

With a battery of electrical servants to help the homemaker, it is possible to supply a family with "out of season" fruits and vegetables; prepare holiday feasts almost as easily as "every day" dinners; keep school-age children togged in freshly washed and ironed clothing every day of the week.

As late as September and October, the economical housewife can store in her freezer for winter consumption such seasonal "buys" as fish and game, squash, pumpkin, late garden vegetables, peaches, pears, plums, apples, cranberries, and other fruits.

SEVERAL TYPES of freezers are on the market to help families live better electrically. Up-right, chest, wall-hung and drawer-type models to suit every kind of space requirement are available. One up-right freezer on the market holding up to 640 pounds of food, stores and displays contents like books on a shelf.

Winter meals are often more elaborate than their summer counterparts; but with electrical appliances, they are just as easy to prepare.

Electric ranges now come with many new convenience features — such as ovens equipped with rotisseries; "vertical" broilers which broil both sides of the meat at once; surface units that fold back into the wall when not in use; ovens that can be raised or lowered like an elevator and thus do away with stooping.

Standing watch over cooking is no longer necessary. The automatic thermostat controls which, years ago, revolutionized baking, are now standard for surface cooking units.

The house wife who owns an electric range equipped with automatic controls simply puts the pan on the cooking surface, twists a dial, and walks out of the kitchen. A sensing element "feels" the temperature of saucepan; relays temperature to an automatic control which keeps heat at full intensity, lowers it slightly, brings it back up, cuts it off almost automatically to the temperature the housewife selected with the control dial.

THERE ARE remarkable innovations too in electric refrigerators — such as models which are installed on the wall and sectional models where the refrigerator and freezer section, in separate units, may be installed waist-high at counter level, mounted atop each other or beneath a work surface.

A "free-standing" unit is also available which can be used as a room divider, recessed in an alcove or placed against a wall. In addition, electric refrigerators now offer sliding and turning shelves for easy access to foods, built-in water and fruit-juice dispensers and many other conveniences.

The built-in trend, so popular with ranges, now extends to all major appliances — refrigerators, freezers, even laundry equipment.

COUNTER-TOP surface units are readily adaptable in a cooking island or peninsula; also permit greater flexibility in the number, kind and placement of the surface units — for example, griddle, broiler and deep-well cooking units are available. These can be arranged in any number of positions with controls placed at the front, back, side or on a neighboring wall.

One of the latest developments in this field is the "stack-on" concept, which bypasses the often tricky problem of installation. Surface units and oven come in separate parts, each resting on a base cabinet.

They can be nestled among existing cabinets to give the kitchen a custom "built-in" appearance.

Fall, winter and at all times of the year, efficient appliances make it possible for families to live better and housewives to work better... electrically.

Washing Machine Saves on Clothes

Laundering at home has advantages other than the luxury of owning automatic laundry equipment.

By doing your own laundry, for example, only a single stock of clothing and linen is required. No longer is it necessary to have double quantities of everything — one in use and one at the laundry. Your washables are always on hand for immediate use.

Sorting, counting and listing separate articles is unnecessary also, when the laundry is not sent out, but done at home.

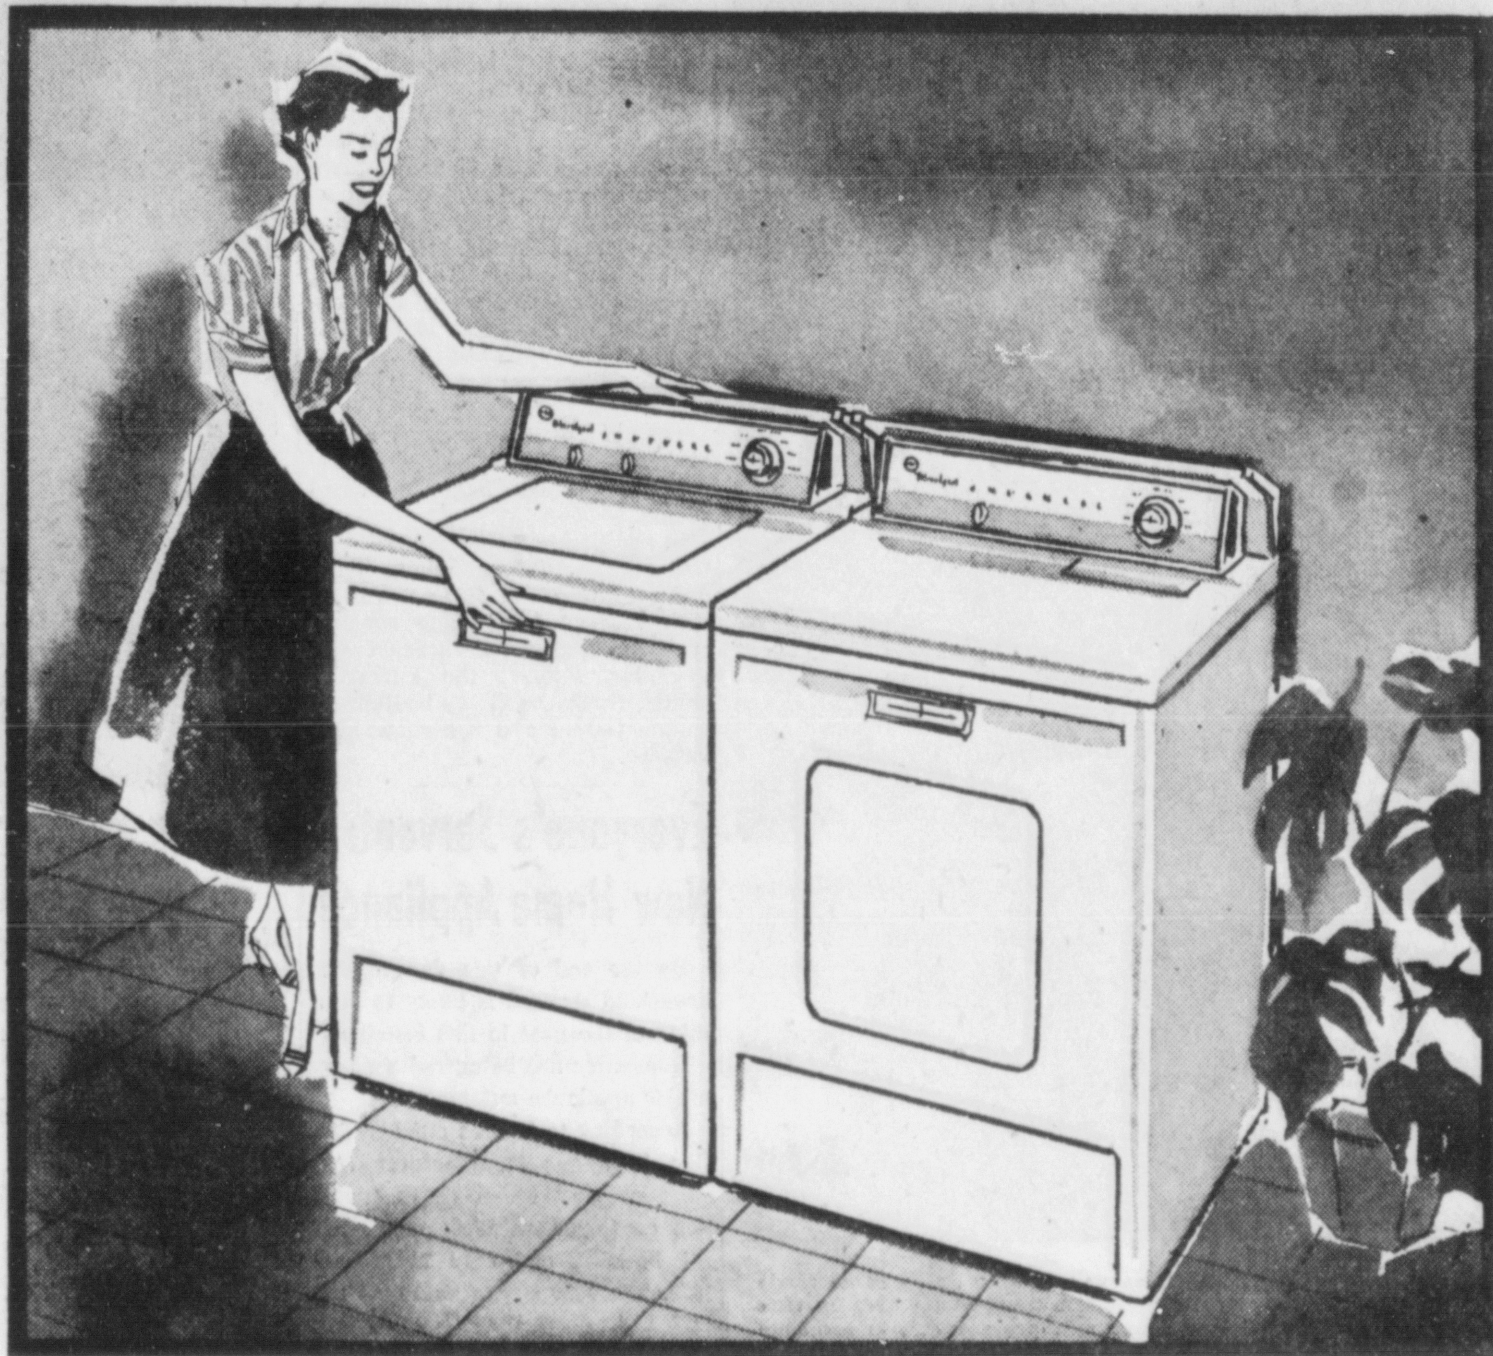

Lost items always turn up because clothes never leave home, and pairs wind their way back to each other again, even if laundered in different loads on different days.

Apple slices which have been fried with butter and brown sugar are a tasty accompaniment to stuffed pork chops.

Few Homes Have Adequate Lighting

No less than 95 per cent of homes in the average American community lack adequate lighting, according to a survey made by General Electric home lighting experts.

As a result of their poor lighting, the homes generally prove to have a gloomy, unpleasant, inhospitable atmosphere, the survey revealed.

Even more important, the lighting is so inadequate in quantity and quality as often to be tiring to the eyes of the occupants.

It also is objectionable in that it makes slower and more difficult such tasks about the home as reading, sewing, shaving, applying makeup, ironing and working in the kitchen and laundry. In some cases it even makes for unsafe conditions.

"LIGHT conditioning of the homes in which we live can and should be the next great step forward in American home betterment," according to Eugene W. Comberry, of Cleveland, illuminating engineer in charge of General Electric's residential lighting activities.

"People in all parts of the country are dissatisfied. Their need and desire for better home lighting is real, and growing," Comberry says.

He points out that the gap between home lighting and that of the store, office and factory, steadily widens.

"Every day women come home from the vivid colors of fresh fruits, vegetables and meats in the brightly lighted supermarket. And men come home from the office or factory, alert and happy, to lighting that puts them to sleep over the evening paper," the G-E lighting expert declares.

JUST WHAT is good home lighting? Comberry says it is twofold in character, consisting of general room illumination, and of lighting for specific seeing tasks.

It is so diffused as to be comfortable to live with, yet adequate in amount for quick and easy seeing of the task to be accomplished.

And, finally, proper home lighting is of such a quality as to make for improved home beauty, charm, and livability.

To explain to the householder what he needs in the way of modern lighting, and to simplify his job of obtaining it, G. E. has prepared 22 lighting recipes, each offering easy-to-follow directions for lighting a specific task in the home.

DEVELOPED by Comberry the recipes, or prescriptions are designed to cure the many unrecognized irritants of family life that spring from faulty lighting.

"These recipes are the newest and most practical lighting ideas ever devised for home; they remove the guess-work by picturing and explaining the situation, the equipment, the placement, and the benefits derived," according to the engineers.

Comberry adds: "No complicated or expensive construction work is involved in the application of the recipes. And no new living habits are required to enjoy them, because they are the logical answer to the family's seeing needs.

Nor do they put a strain on the family budget. But no words can prove so clearly the desirability of lighting by recipe as the light conditioning of a home."

THE NEW, simplified approach calls for lighting situation formulas some of which may be applied in several rooms of a particular house.

For example, the lighting recipe for "reading" while seated in an upholstered chair is just as valid in the bedroom, study, and sitting room, as in the living room.

The portable or wall lamps to be used and the locations in which to place them, are the same in each case.

Other recipes specify lighting for hand sewing, reading, writing and drawing at a desk or table, reading piano music, television viewing, preparing food, performing other kitchen duties, reading in bed, making up face at dressing table or vanity, shaving at bathroom mirror, working in laundry, and ironing by hand or with a machine.

THESE RECIPES for specific seeing tasks are combined appropriately to create light-conditioned rooms.

In addition to these applied situation recipes the well-lighted living room contains a lighted wall-to-wall valance, the dining room a smaller lighted wall bracket and a ceiling fixture, the kitchen a ceiling fixture, and the bedroom a ceiling fixture and lighted window valance.

Everyone's Servant: New Home Appliance

By the end of this decade, the household servant is likely to be a thing of the past in this country.

Domestics are being replaced by major appliance automation.

According to figures cited by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, there were 420,119 domestics employed in 1930; only 226,781 in 1940, and only 140,296 by 1950. The 1950 figure averages out to a little more than three domestics per 100 dwellings.

APPLIANCE SHOW GIFT—Mrs. Donna Cormier holds the attractive Zenith table radio which Carpenter's Hardware will offer as a gift to someone at the Appliance Show.

IRONING MADE EASIER—Someone's ironing day will be made a great deal easier by the Westinghouse Steam Iron held by Hubert Moore. Moore's Dream House will present this to someone at the Appliance Show.

HAPPINESS FOR SOMEONE—Walter Reser will be happy to present this General Electric sauce pan to a visitor at the Appliance Show. This appliance which automatically cooks a "winner" every time is a gift of Denton Appliance Store.

Hubbies Favor Machine to Man

It may be a woman's world, but a research team found that almost half the purchases of automatic washers were inspired by the man in the house.

They also found that: Almost everybody would like to own a dishwasher.

Dishwashers are regarded as a luxury.

Ownership is a symbol of both financial success and social status.

The chief source of information about dishwashers seems to be friends of owners. Also, there is a strong influence to the purchase of dishwashers spreading from friend to friend.

Have A Grocery In Your Home? You Can with A Food Freezer!

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have a grocery store in your own home, ready to serve you 24 hours a day every day of the year?

It certainly would — particularly during this busy season — and anyone can have such a "store," with a chest or upright freezer.

The freezer "store" keeps your food bills down; stocks a wide variety of foods both in and out of season, and ensures wholesome meals for your family with a minimum of preparation.

SINCE FREEZERS stock anywhere up to 900 pounds of food, you can buy in great quantities. This, of course, means infrequent shopping trips and greatly reduced food costs to you. No longer need to throw out leftovers since freezers keep today's food fresh and healthful for a period of weeks and months.

You're in for a host of compliments from your family because your freezer allows you to serve special dishes and a greater variety of food generally than you could possibly handle without the help of a freezer.

Strawberries in December are only one of innumerable seasonal foods you'll be able to serve anytime during the year, again thanks to your freezer.

If unexpected company used to throw you into a tizzy, force frantic visits to the food store, and shake your confidence in yourself as a housewife, your freezer will be an especially welcome addition to the home. Let the whole neighborhood drop in without notice now, and you're the epitome of calmness, satisfied with the knowledge you can handle any emergency on the food front.

REMEMBER when even company you expected caused concern because there was insufficient room for the fancy dishes you were planning to serve? Well, a freezer takes care of that problem, too. As an owner of a freezer, you can expect a reputation as an exceptional hostess — and you'll deserve it.

A freezer is an awfully good friend in meal preparation, too. Come summertime you'll be extra thankful that a freezer lets you serve delicious, mansized meals, which require only a brief reheating.

The secret is to select the cool early hours of a morning to cook three or four roasts with the same heat. Wrap the roasts, then store them in your freezer, and your cooking is just about done for the week. The old war cry about having to spend entire days cooking over a hot stove won't be valid any more.

The same way to cooking four or five vegetables at a time can save hours, in addition to reducing the use of gas or electricity.

If your family appreciates baked goods you can save yourself future time and trouble by baking a half dozen pies at a time, storing in your freezer what you don't use immediately. Except for cream or custard pies, most pies will keep for two or three months, if you store them at zero temperature.

FREEZING is a safe, easy way to preserve fruit and vegetables, meats, fish, poultry, game and baked or pre-baked goods. It will keep all the original flavor, color and nutritive value, providing there is proper wrapping.

A freezer means a lot of things — fewer shopping trips, decreased food bills and more efficient housekeeping are some. But most important, a freezer means freedom from drudgery for you and happier meals and leisure time for you and your entire family.

Beauty and Convenience Basic Requirements Of the Modern Kitchen

Home economists agree that the kitchen of today has two basic requirements: It must make working convenient and it must be attractive. The ideal kitchen should eliminate as much stooping, bending, reaching and walking as possible.

If, judging by these modern standards, your kitchen leaves something to be desired, perhaps you will want to make some changes.

Or perhaps you want to plan a kitchen for a new home. In planning the design or renovation of your kitchen, the first thing to do is to study the equipment and methods of work.

The placement of the three main work centers should be analyzed for convenience in working. The three centers are:

1. Food storage and refrigeration.
2. Cooking and serving.
3. Dishwashing and clean-up.

Each center should be convenient to the other two and should offer the least possible interference with traffic through the kitchen.

FOR THE MAXIMUM amount of efficiency as you work, you should move ahead from one end of the other with little back-tracking. While placing equipment in the kitchen, remember that work should move from right to left.

Since work usually begins at the refrigerator, it should be placed at the right hand of the kitchen followed by work space, then the sink, more work space, the range, and over, and end with a serving counter.

If you desire an eating space in the kitchen, it should be near the serving counter.

In placing small appliances and kitchen articles such as baking utensils and cooking utensils, consideration must be given to the center in which they will be used and their easy accessibility.

THE FOOD STORAGE and Refrigeration Center should be located near an outside entry where the food will be delivered to the home. Ample work surface should be provided to this area and when purchasing equipment, choice should be based on the tasks which will be performed in this center.

The Cooking and Serving Center should be located near the dining area and the kitchen tools and utensils needed for food preparation should be stored here.

A work surface should be placed next to the range so that food taken from the range can be placed on this working surface and from there taken to the dining area.

Since food is usually served immediately after it is cooked, the serving dishes should be stored in this center for the most convenience. A ventilator provided above the range will whisk away the odors of strongly flavored food during the cooking period.

THE THIRD CENTER in the kitchen is the Dishwashing and Cleaning Center. The sink, which is located in this area, plays a most important part in all kitchen activities and is the center for cleaning up.

Food preparation involves the cleaning and washing of food and cooking utensils before and after a meal as well as the washing of tableware used during the meal.

Therefore, it is a necessity to have the sink easily accessible to both the food storage and cooking center. One drainboard or work surface should be provided on either side of the sink.

Cleaning supplies and small equipment needed at the sink and also staple foods such as dried fruits, beans and rice which are usually prepared at the sink should be stored in this center.

If you do not plan to incorporate a dishwasher in your kitchen, a two-bowl sink will be a necessity; but it finances allow a dishwasher and garbage disposal in the kitchen they will prove to be a great time saver. If you plan to install a dishwasher in the future, allow space for it beside the sink and then store a serving cart there until the time of installation.

THERE ARE three basic kitchen plans from which to choose. The first is the "U" shaped kitchen plan. In this plan, kitchen equipment is placed along three adjacent walls.

This gives a continuous working surface. The "U" shaped kitchen plan is best if there is a large area in which to place the kitchen. The second type of plan is the "L" shaped kitchen in which equipment is grouped along two adjacent walls.

This type of plan allows an eating area in the kitchen and is particularly nice for the family who likes to eat in the kitchen.

The corridor kitchen is the third type of kitchen plan from which to choose.

The equipment in this kitchen is placed along two opposite walls. To obtain the greatest efficiency from this kitchen, the two facing walls should not be too far apart. Any other kitchen patterns that are available are variations of the three basic plans.

The factors which determine the plan to use are: The area of the room—size and shape, the openings—doors and windows, any obstacles—such as radiators or chimneys and, of course, the size and living habits of the family.

THERE IS a variety of kitchen cabinets available on the market. The choice of materials used, either wood or metal, depends on your particular needs and preference.

It is wise to purchase cabinets made of the best material your budget will allow. Good cabinets add to the attractiveness of a kitchen and the attractiveness of a kitchen adds to the selling value of your home.

Kitchen floors, walls, and counter top coverings and finishes should be durable, non-absorbent, stain-resistant and easily cleaned.

In selecting a floor covering, remember that the kitchen floor gets harder wear than any other floor in the house.

Since many tasks in the kitchen require standing, a resilient floor covering should be used to reduce fatigue. The kitchen floor covering is also the base of the decorating scheme for the room.

THE COUNTER-TOP surface should be covered with a smooth heat-resistant material which possesses few or preferably no cracks which may collect dirt. It should be one that will not scratch, but will deaden noise and give good service.

Kitchen walls should be smooth, hard, and impervious to moisture and common stains. If wallpaper is desired in the kitchen, it should be plastic coated, varnished, waxed or a waterproof variety such as oilcloth.

A planning and business center in the kitchen is quite convenient. For the homemaker who sews, a sewing center can be built into the kitchen.

To get the utmost efficiency from your kitchen, it would be wise to discuss the arrangement of equipment and work centers with a kitchen planning consultant.

Ice Cream Handy In Home Freezer

If ice cream is to be stored in your freezer for more than a week, packaging it will help preserve its quality, says Frank Koval, Ohio State University extension specialist in dairy technology.

You won't need any additional wrapping if the original container has a tight-fitting lid and is made moisture - proof with a plastic coating, Koval says. Otherwise, he suggests one of the following packaging methods:

Place the original carton in a plastic bag and seal tightly; wrap the carton with moisture - proof wrapping material, or transfer the ice cream to a moisture - proof container.

IF ICE CREAM is allowed to soften and then is refrozen, it tends to shrink in volume and becomes coarse in texture, Koval notes.

When serving ice cream, he suggests you take out of the package only the amount needed and return the unused portion to the freezer immediately.

He also recommends that you keep the container closed or wrapped to prevent loss of moisture.

Dishwasher Saves Time

About five minutes are required to prepare dishes and load a dishwasher, compared with 35 minutes needed to scrape, rinse, dry and put away dishes when the work is done by hand.

Hard water deposits soap curd on clothes, making white clothes dingy and colored clothes dull.

Spare the Old Range Or Spoil the Party

What happens to the old gas provides a shiny new one for the range when the home improver kitchen? The Gas Appliance Manufacturers' Assn., recommends a celler spot for the old one. It will be ready for coffee breaks for the improver himself when he's at workbench tasks, or for his wife when she's at the laundry or other cellar chores. The extra cooking capacity fits in when the guest list taxes even the spacious modern gas range.
